| The activities she prefers

Design

Designing is an essential activity in which Mariya Mihaylova feels fully engaged. Contributing her imagination and ideas is crucial to her because she draws significant energy and passion from it. It is one of the key ways in which she finds satisfaction in her work.

Evaluate

Evaluating is an activity that highly suits Mariya Mihaylova. She particularly likes to be a point of reference when evaluating a subject. She likes providing her critical view and her opinions, and comparing them to others'. Evaluating is, therefore, a key source of motivation for her.

Propel

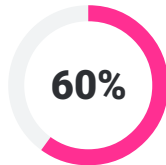

Mariya Mihaylova draws a lot of energy from her involvement in activities where she has to move plans into action. She has a marked sense of success that pushes her to instil a dynamic approach to work. She particularly enjoys being one of the driving forces in a project.

MOTIVATIONS ANALYSIS

MOTIVATIONS ANALYSIS

The culture in which she thrives

| The ideal culture for her

Mariya Mihaylova seeks dynamic work environments geared towards results. She is best suited for company cultures that prioritise innovation by adopting a flexible approach to work: everyone is free to choose their own method as long as goals are met. She prefers environments that are reassessed often, and which evolve regularly to incorporate new work methodologies. She expects to be stimulated by her work environment and to be free from the constraints of routines. In short, she has little need for structure and is better served by a culture that values accomplishment.

APTITUDE ASSESSMENT

Her way of thinking

| Decision-making: Reasoned

Tendency to dedicate time to ensuring decisions are right.

| Preferred tasks: Advanced

Capacity to comprehend new and strategic subjects.

| Learning style: Innovative

Ability to easily assimilate new concepts through analysis.

| How she learns new skills and concepts

Brilliant from an intellectual point of view, Mariya Mihaylova tends to easily assimilate foreign concepts. She is able to understand new or complex subjects without needing to put them into practice. This means she can develop her skills by researching and reading on diverse subjects. She needs to be intellectually stimulated by her work, and might get easily bored otherwise.

Mariya Mihaylova's natural tendency is to learn by testing out ideas first, then potentially reassessing them as necessary based on experience. She does not need to know everything on a subject before allowing herself to experiment. Understanding the basics is enough for her, after which she needs to swing into action.
